

Tennessee Wings of Liberty Museum Update 3/13/26

Only 63 days until we open the doors!

Its very busy inside the museum. The last of the large artifacts are being placed this week. Exhibit construction continues. Scenic elements are being installed. The wiring and installation of audio video components of exhibits is underway, and much more. Very soon the Center of Military History will begin the smaller artifact installation in cases throughout the exhibit hall.

We are excited to open the doors of this world class museum on 15 May

The WACO Glider flies again

Building a jungle in the museum

If you are fortunate enough to see MG(R) Winski in the new museum, ask him to demonstrate the war-winning design aspects of this Jeep that led to victory in WWII

Some things never change

Please consider support us as we still have a work to do to get over the finish line.
Thank You.
