

Tennessee Wings of Liberty Museum Update 4/27/26

18 days until we open the doors!

It's hard to believe but the Tennessee Wings of Liberty museum will open in 2 ½ weeks. A lot of work is ongoing and while it's been described as controlled chaos, there's a plan, a timeline, and the right professional teams ensuring the museum will be ready to open on 15 May. Enjoy highlights of some of this ongoing work both inside and outside of the museum.

Highlighting the timeframes for the alcove artifact cases.

Large backdrop graphics are being installed on the tableaus, this is last step prior to mounting the mannequins

Central case highlighting WWII weapons

Yes it's a horse! Find out why we have a horse when you visit the museum.

The public entrance sign is almost finished.

We are almost there! Please consider helping get us over the finish line.

Thank You.

EDUCATE

HONOR

INSPIRE